

WONDERFUL PROOF!

of the kind of humbuggery, it behoves every one who has a sufficient love of the interests of his fellow-men to be on his guard against the same. The author of the foregoing paper, who has been so long and so vigorously engaged in the cause of the oppressed, becomes willing to dilate upon the subject. The Monks, the Clergy, the State, and Spiritual Rulers, are the enemies of the poor, and of all intelligent beings, even to the detraction of their intelligence. All feeling an interest in the welfare of the poor, and in the removal of the extension of poverty, which is usual, we would refer to their serious consideration Dr. Huxham's and Sir John Sarsaparilla, and Ars Versatilis. We have no objection to the fact, that they are extended to other objects of less importance, in their superiority to any similar compounds ever known. We have no objection to the fact, that they are the basis of the following diseases: Scrophula, or Scrophulousness, Pityriasis, Psoriasis, Eczema, Diarrhoea, Jaundice, Female Leucorrhoea, Erysipelas, Swelled Glands, and all diseases in the similar state of the blood.

 Dear Sir:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your success of your Sarsaparilla daughter. She is now eight years of age. For years she was afflicted with a skin disease, and of body resembling Scrofula. Attended by several of the best Physicians, and were covered over with large runnels the use of which she grew so much better before she was brought to you, and the name of application to a Physician, who only heard of your Sarsaparilla as being a medicine for the skin, and she was commenced its use. Before the first bottle
 I could see a marked change for the better and its use until the third bottle was taken, she was cured, and has remained in better health than she ever did before. In justice I consider your Sarsaparilla one of the best medicines I ever used, and I will discontinue arising from its impurity. With accept my most sincere thanks and well wishes for the success of your Sarsaparilla.

is the opinion of a Physician of the City, who cannot be called in question: P. Blackwell—Sir: in reply to yours I will send you a bottle of the Compound for your Country, Sassaaparilla and Iris Verticilla, and consider Red Nitricum and Iron.

A Word to Advertisers.—All the advertisements appearing in the Daily Democrat are transferred to our Evening Edition, and receive a gratuitous insertion in it. This extra patron of the morning paper has the advantage of an evening circulation to a distinct class of readers than of a day.

Freight at Pittsburg.—The Dispatch of Tuesday last, says:

We have never seen so much freight on the wharf at this period of the season, as was piled there yesterday. An immense quantity of dry goods were shipped, and we were told that one transportation house, alone, had shipped 160 tons of eastern goods. The rates were 75 cents to St. Louis, 25 cents to Cincinnati.

The Right Spirit Moving.

The democratic meeting at the court-house on Saturday evening, was the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in the city. Speeches were made by Messrs. Caldwell, Willard, and Whitely, which were heard with the highest gratification by the immense crowd. This is an excellent promise to the fifteenth. The democracy of this city will do their duty.

The Cincinnati papers abound with cases of rap, robbery, murder, row, thefts, drunkenness, &c., &c. Truly, Cincinnati is a bad place, and were it not for her well-behaved democracy, would doubtless become "ere long like some of the old towns we read about, a fit receptacle for snakes, owls, bats, and such like vermin."

Jacob Dison, an old citizen of Cincinnati, was lately drowned while attempting to swim his mules over the Platte river, California.

Eggs from China, put up in pickle, in large sealed jars, are now retailed in San Francisco at one dollar per dozen.

There is a club in New York called the "Unknown Club," whose being, end and aim, is to have a good time of it.

The owners of the Henry Clay refuse to pay for the services of those who were engaged in grappling for the dead bodies.

Official Dignity.—They fined a man ten dollars in New Orleans for calling a policeman "hard names."

During the present year have passed through Iowa city about 40,000 emigrants for California and 10,000 for Oregon.

The Whigs will have a chance to gas a little next week. The State elections in Vermont come on on Tuesday the 7th inst.

Wallace, the whig candidate for Congress in the 11th District, Indiana, "goes it" for the immediate repeal of the Fugitive Slave Law.

Advices from Texas state that immense crop of cotton and corn will be made. Offers have been made to deliver corn for government supplies at San Antonio at 25 cents per bushel.

Edith Burritt, the learned blacksmith, is still in London, and is engaged in forwarding his favorite project for the establishment of ocean penny postage.

There are, in the United States, eighty-one women holding the office of Postmaster; thirty-one are in Pennsylvania. Some of these are important cities.

A fire occurred in Cincinnati on the morning of Thursday last, which consumed nine horses and property to a large amount—say $20,000.

A Mr. Legay, wife and son, of Camden Ark., were led to bail a few days since in the sum of $1000, for causing the death of a slave by inhuman treatment.

The Captain General of Cuba is nicknamed by a small republican sect, secretly published in Havana, General Satcha, (Savage), from having poisoned all the dogs lately by throwing sausages into the streets.

Bill and Fanny Day were called to the attention of our lady readers in relation to the conspicuous advertisement of J. A. Miller & Co., in another column. His establishment is on the corner of Market and Fourth streets, where may be found a large, choice, and rich stock of silk and fancy dry goods, not surpassed by any in the market. This is a fine opportunity for the ladies to select the latest and choicest patterns of dresses, as the goods in this house are fresh, selected with the greatest care, and with an eye to please the taste of the most fastidious. Give the gentlemen a call.

The Cuba movement of the Lone Star Society is going forward. An air of mystery is thrown over the great end of their organization, yet indications all point in one direction—the liberation of Cuba. The number enrolled in its various branches at present is said to be fifteen thousand.

We learn from the Cincinnati Atlas of the 31st, that the whigs of the Fifth Ward of that city are "on the move." The editor does not inform his readers to where they are bound, but we take it for granted that their point of destination is the head waters of Salt River.

English Crops.—The wheat crop of England this year will, it is thought, be lighter than last year, by several million bushels. Blight and mildew prevail to a much greater extent than was supposed. In some of the most fertile wheat districts the crops are almost a total loss. Barley and oats are admitted on all hands to be abundant. Potatoes are badly injured in both districts.

Arkansas Editors.—The education necessary to qualify an Arkansas editor for the duties of his office, are said to be the following:

Two months practice with a hair-trigger rifle, at a target one hundred paces distant; six weeks practice in swinging a bowie knife; six or seven months practice in going, cutting, cutting, rough and tearing, and hacking at a election.

These qualifications will enable the possessor to write political and slanderous articles with impunity.

Mr. Buchanan, the actor, publishes a card in the London paper, in which he represents that his appearance at Drury Lane theatre, was under the most unfavorable circumstances. He further publicly states, that the critics of London were determined to write him down. Such an array of hostility was more than any man could withstand. In addition to this, the manager was unfaithful in his engagements.

Another Hero Grown.—The Troy (N. Y.) papers announce the death of Jas. Wool, a hero of the revolutionary struggle, at the age of 96. He was engaged in some of the bloodiest battles of that eventful period, and bore himself heroically in the times that tried men's souls. He was a near relative of Gen. Wool. He was living at Lansingburg at the time of his death.

MacKerel in Boston Harbor.—Fine large macKerel are now caught in great numbers off the bridges and wharves of Boston. This is an uncommon occurrence says the Journal, and crowds of men and boys throng every available spot when the tide serves. Some find their death upon the fish, while others are not quite so fortunate, but the sport is kept up from day to day, each one hoping to be of the lucky ones.

A gentleman at Elkhon, Ill. writes us, letter unspiced, to inform us that his subscription has expired, and asks us to continue the paper to his address as he intends to pay the same in a few days. Thankful for all favors, but would rather our correspondent would pay his own postage, especially when the money is not enclosed.

INQUEST NO. 59.—Coroner Green held an inquest Saturday evening on the body of the man who was shot at Sweney's Cotton Factory, by Kirkpatrick, some ten days since. Dr. Thorby made the post mortem examination. The ball had passed through the liver and kidney, lodging against the back, causing great inflammation in the liver, and intestines to adhere to the chest and abdomen. Verdict, came to his death by a pistol shot from the hands of Kirkpatrick.

Diamond Jewelry. Messrs. Root & Brown, 4th Street, between Main and Market street, have just received more and more elegant specimens of diamond jewelry. We do not recollect to have seen a more beautiful and costly collection anywhere. We direct the attention of those who wish to find something very fine, and are not for the cost, to the assortment at Messrs. Root & Brown's store.

At the shot iron foundry of Berlin, a tent of sheet iron, 120 feet long and 30 feet wide, has been constructed as a mess room for the officers of the camp. It can be transported in a single cart, and put up in half an hour.

Attention, Light Artillerymen. There will be a meeting at the Court House this evening for the full organization of this company. This is a good move, and we hope may be accomplished.

There was a large and enthusiastic meeting of the Democracy at Charleston, Clark county, Indiana, on Saturday last. Gen. Pitcher was present, as well as several other speakers who resided in the Hoosier State.

The town prior was abroad on Saturday night in "search of a little boy about 3 years old," as usual. Hope the little chap is safely restored to his parents before this time.

Mrs. Crawford, who resides on Main, just below 10th street, met with a most painful accident on 31st near Market, on Saturday morning. She is quite an elderly lady, and stepping upon the rim of a watermelon, her foot slipped, and she fell, dislocating her hip. It was some time before she could be taken to her residence.

A bloody tragedy.—The Madison Banner publishes the following account of a horrible tragedy, recently enacted in Indiana:

Two brothers, Hiram and Warren Francisco, residents of this county and well known in this community as respectable and peaceable citizens, have been for some time at odds in Jackson county, in this State. They usually travel different routes, but make a practice of meeting each other frequently. They agreed to travel together, in the morning, in the morning, at 11 o'clock, and inquired if his brother had arrived and was followed by the latter, he asked them to wait until he could be called for a light and asked to be shown a bed. The landowner informed him he had no candles about the house but that, if he would follow him, he would take him to a bed. Francisco followed the landowner into a dark room and undressed himself and retired to rest. The bed seemed to be wet, and having some matches about him he struck a light. Examining the bed he found that it was wet with blood. Discovering a candle on a table near by, he lit it, and looking under the bed, saw the body of his brother, with his throat cut from ear to ear, and perfectly lifeless. Frightened to death, he immediately fled, and was not seen again.

Thankful for all favors, but would rather our correspondent would pay his own postage, especially when the money is not enclosed.

AN ART ILLUSTRATION.—In Gen. Scott's "Americus" communication, it will be recollected, he submits a draft of a law embodying his views, on the subject of naturalization, which he proposes for the consideration of Congress. In that law he deprives all foreigners of the right to vote except such as shall have served two years in the army or navy. At a late meeting of the democratic club at Evansville, one of the speakers illustrated this extraordinary proposition of Gen. Scott's as follows:

Now, gentlemen, here is my friend B. who is a German, and whom you all know as a good and worthy citizen, who doubtless loves his adopted country as much as any native citizen. Mr. B., however, is unfortunate. Nature was not so kind to him as to those of us whom she has made sound in limb. He is a cripple in both feet. This would prevent him serving in the army or navy—and thus Mr. B., good and worthy man as he is, could not become an American citizen if General Scott's views were carried out.

MORE THAN FAINTING.—The Sewardians of this city have incurred a heavy expense in procuring a picture of a man on horseback, (intended to represent Gen. Scott) for a banner at their Chip-way Club room. It looks about as much like "Old Fussy" as a ground hog looks like a gazelle, but no difference for that—it looks military, and that is all whiggy cares for at the present day. Well, this unsightly picture was suspended across Madison street one day last week, as one of the very best "arguments" that could be adduced in favor of the Seward candidate; but on Saturday, the rope broke and down came Gen. Scott, horse and all, into the dust; and with them fell the hopes of whigery in this region. It was truly ominous of the fate of the military chieftain in Kentucky; but nothing to be compared with the high fall, the old gentleman and his advocates will get in November next.

The said banner was again flung to the breeze on the same day, but the very picture of the man bushes since the fall, and we have heard nothing about fainting since the laughable occurrence.—Ky. Flag.

The Union party in Georgia have withdrawn the electoral ticket nominated by them a few weeks since. There is now but one Pierce and King electoral ticket in the field, which secures the united action of the democratic party. The whigs are divided between Webster and Scott. The former will doubtless receive much the larger number of whig votes.

SHOT IN THE REAR AGAIN.—At the great outpouring of the New England democracy at Hillsboro', New Hampshire, was, among other prominent men, Hon. James Lyons, of Richmond, Va. He is one of the federal candidates for electors, but when Scott was nominated he declines to serve. He is one of the most influential leaders of the federal party in the State.

The Mobile Advertiser, a very warm Scott paper, says: "We have been free to admit that, as a private citizen, Gen. Pierce is without reproach, that he is a high-minded and honorable American gentleman, and as such, entitled to all the consideration and respect which courteous gentlemen are accustomed to pay each other."

The Boston Post says: The Scott papers that have assailed Gen. Pierce's character, and represented him as an immoral man in private life, and an incompetent one in public station, now white about the way Gen. Scott is treated by democratic orators and editors.

SIGN OF THE TIMES.—We were in company a day or two since, with several gentlemen from the "monumental city," and the conversation taking a political turn, we enquired how Maryland would cast her vote in November.

"Well, I cannot state positively," was the reply, "but here are five of us from Baltimore, all good whigs, and a desire for the success of whig principles; but we cannot vote for Scott; and we know many others occupying the same position."

Thus—the ball is moving.—Norfolk News.

All locofoco candidates get to be Irishmen or Dutchmen, or get to have Irish or Dutch fathers and mothers, or at least Irish or Dutch grandfathers, just before the election. The locofocos, according to their own account, haven't offered us an Anglo-Saxon candidate during the last quarter of a century.—Low Journal.

It is true that Jackson's ancestors were Irish. Van Buren's Dutch, Polk's Scotch, and Pierce's like Jackson's, Irish. But we don't see how their parentage disqualifies them from making good Presidents. Isn't an Irish, Dutch, or Scotch President—or a President in whose veins course Irish, Dutch, or Scotch blood—just as good as an Anglo-Saxon origin?—N. A. Ledger.

ON GOOD TERMS WITH DEATH.—In the Southern part of Tonguini, the highest compliment you can pay to a distinguished personage, and the dearest token of esteem for a reverend friend, is the present of a coffin. A number of civic priests, of native origin, joined in giving a coffin, as a New Year's present, to the Bishop of Laranda, who had instructed them in theology, saying that he was growing old, and that they could never have a more suitable opportunity to offer him a more fitting piece of furniture. At the same time they called his attention to the excellence of the wood and beauty of the work.—Such is the custom of the country; no person who has reached the age of fifty without his coffin, which not only stands ready for its prospective use, but serves even now as a table by day and a bed by night. The children of a family in good circumstances will combine to offer hand-some coffins to their father and mother, and pupils make the same present to a venerated teacher. Death there has no terrors for a poor widower, with young children, fell dangerously sick, and the first care of his friends was to borrow a coffin for him. When this was announced to the sufferer he trembled with joy, and asked to see the borrowed article. "Now," said he, "let me die, for if I live I shall have to return it, and who knows if I can ever procure another?" In the same spirit, the friends of a dying person speak in the presence of his approaching end, and of the preparations for his funeral.—The Bishop above referred to says that one day he visited a catechumen, whose malady, though likely to be prolonged, was sure to end fatally, and found a man sitting by his bed-side, making the mourning clothes for the family. At the door was the carpenter, making the coffin in sight of the patient, who directed the work with the utmost particularity.

These particulars we gather from a letter of the good Bishop's, to a friend in France, published in the Journal des Debats.
